

Learning Resource Grants: Unlock Your Creativity

Introduction

Are you full of ideas for creating online learning resources that can supercharge your students' readiness for your courses? Perhaps you've yearned for your students to walk into class with a better grasp of interview techniques, academic article skimming, or a better capacity for mastering the intricacies of math and science.

Do you find yourself contemplating the transformation of your favorite in-person learning activities into captivating online experiences? Have you pondered how to immerse your students in real-world scenarios, fostering their critical thinking, communication, and collaboration skills?
